Branding Websites Applications

You don't need a miracle. You need a team eager to take the initiative and not just create but defend your product. That's where we come in.

One thing we won't do - Ads.
We prefer to stick to what we're great at.

We've walked in your shoes.

Startup experts from all sides

We know the startup life — because we lived it. And once we hit success, we supported startups as investors. We can guide you on this wild journey, helping you avoid common pitfalls.

Your outspoken advisor

We're not just another outsourced team. Instead, we raise the bar for collaboration by working with you every step of the way, standing up for opinions that matter as your dedicated partner.

Leave the tech to us

Building a dev team is complicated and costly. We're here to simplify all that. Let us take care of the technical details that we genuinely love, while you focus on building your business.

Pricing

We keep it real with you.
That includes the numbers.

Our pricing is transparent and flexible, based on project complexity.

For clear-cut projects with a defined scope, we can provide you with a fixed price cap. For more dynamic projects that require versatility, we charge hourly rates based on the estimated number of hours required.

This approach allows us to work collaboratively with you to create a product that meets your expectations, and then some.

The hourly rate varies depending on team seniority, composition, and contract length.
